

Talent of the Future Design Competition

Category: Students Only

Deadline: February 28, 2013

Website: <http://bit.ly/1Ns2vzZ>

Nimlok is a leading global provider of exhibition stands and display solutions. One of the main elements of our service is providing clients with creative, cutting edge exhibition stand designs that meet their marketing objectives.

This new student competition sets out to find a winning exhibition stand design that provides an innovative and creative solution whilst understanding perfectly the client's objectives.

All entries will be shortlisted by a panel of industry experts and the nominated shortlisted designs will be posted on the Nimlok website where they will receive public votes. The entry with the most public votes will win the competition. Judging will be based on originality, creativity and relevancy of a solution that best meets the clients brief.

The adjudication will take place w/c 4th February and shortlists will be posted online w/c 11th February. The winner will be announced on Friday 1st March 2013.

A maximum of 3 visuals can be submitted (from one or more briefs). Designs to be submitted and created in either hard copy format (by post) or Jpeg or PDF (by email).

There is no entry fee.

Eligibility

The competition is open to all UK design students in Higher Education aged 18 and above.

Prize

The entrant with the most votes will win £250 plus the prestigious opportunity to partake in optional work experience within Nimlok's award winning design department.
