The 28th ShinHan Postcard Art Contest, under the innovative theme "My Future with AI: Building a Brighter Tomorrow," invites young artists worldwide to envision the future of artificial intelligence in art. This theme encourages participants to think creatively about how AI can be harmoniously integrated into artistic practices, reflecting both the possibilities and challenges posed by technological advancements in creativity.

Open to global participants aged 4 to 18, the contest offers a platform for emerging talents to showcase their artistic interpretations through a postcard-sized canvas. Using fine art paint as the primary medium, artists are encouraged to incorporate other media to a lesser extent, allowing for a diverse range of artistic expressions that capture their unique visions of a technology-integrated future.

This contest not only highlights the technical skills and imaginative capacities of young artists but also serves as a reflection of their thoughts on the evolving relationship between technology and human creativity. By focusing on AI's impact on the artistic world, ShinHan Art Materials aims to foster a dialogue about the future of art and innovation, engaging young minds in a global conversation about the potential of AI to enhance and transform creative expression.

There is no entry fee.
