SOURCE: GRAPHIC COMPETITIONS

Open worldwide to post-secondary and high school students in creative advertising, graphic design, interactive media, photography and illustration programs, the Applied Arts Student Awards is the largest and most respected show of its kind in North America. Applied Arts is a highly-regarded visual communications magazine founded in 1986 in Canada.

Entries can be submitted in five main categories:

• Integrated Advertising & Design Programs • Advertising • Design • Digital Motion & Gaming • Photography & Illustration • High School

Any work completed as a school requirement or work completed independently during the course of your studies is eligible for entry. And even if you graduated within the last year and the work that you are interested in submitting to the 2021 Student Awards was not submitted to last year's Student Awards, then you are still eligible to enter. Instructors can make group submission on behalf of their students.

You retain all rights of your images.

Entry fees start from 20 USD.

ELIGIBILITY

Open worldwide to post-secondary and high school students. High school students may only apply to the High School categories. The rest of the categories are for post-secondary students.

PRIZE

Winners receive: • Their work published in print in the corresponding Awards Annual • A complimentary copy of the Annual your work appears in. • Their work published in the Winners' Gallery • Their work displayed at related Applied Arts events • A personalized, embossed awards certificate for every winning entry signed by noted designer Georges Haroutiun, the founder and art director of Applied Arts.
