The "Art on Climate 2024 Illustration Competition" is a prestigious international event aimed at bringing global attention to the pressing issue of climate change. Organized by Fingertips Company Limited in collaboration with the Asian Art Association and sponsored by Allianz Global Investors, this competition provides a platform for artists worldwide to showcase their creativity and express their concerns and ideas about climate change through visual art. Participants are invited to submit original illustrations that reflect on various climate change themes, such as building resilient communities, defining planetary boundaries, fostering inclusive capitalism, embracing innovative technological solutions, and combating climate change through collective action.

The competition is open to anyone aged 18 and above, encouraging a diverse range of participants from different geographical and cultural backgrounds to contribute their perspectives. Each participant can submit up to three artworks, which must be original and unpublished, ensuring a wide array of fresh and innovative ideas. The submissions should be in a flat image format, created using any medium except for AI-generated content, and must adhere to the specified size and format requirements. This inclusive approach not only aims to foster creativity but also to build a global dialogue around the critical issue of climate change.

With no entry fee required, the competition makes participation accessible to all, eliminating financial barriers and encouraging widespread involvement. Winners will receive substantial monetary prizes, with the Champion awarded €2,000, the 1st runner-up €1,500, and the 2nd runner-up €1,000. Additionally, 50 merit awards of €150 each will be given.
