Organized by the Global Cement and Concrete Association, the 4th annual Concrete in Life photography competition is now open for entries.

As one of the most widely used man-made products on the planet, concrete is all around us: in our houses and offices; our roads and pavements; in the bridges that connect us; the wind farms that provide us with energy; and the sea barriers that protect us. As the sustainable building material of choice, it provides safe, durable and resilient structures as well as providing the basis for renewable energy infrastructure.

The competition has four categories:

• Urban design and use • Concrete infrastructure • Concrete in daily life • Beauty and design

You are invited to celebrate the vital role that concrete plays in our world – its beauty, versatility, strength, durability, and sustainability.

There is no entry fee.

ELIGIBILITY

Open worldwide to amateur and professional photographers.
