SOURCE: GRAPHIC COMPETITIONS

Creative Quarterly (the Journal of Art and Design) is now accepting entries for their 34th international competition for:

• Graphic Design • Illustration • Photography • Fine Arts • Advertising

There are separate categories for professional and student entries.

All entries must have been completed during the last twelve months. Each entry must be submitted as 300 dpi, RGB, JPG. Vertical images must be 8" wide. Horizontal images must be 10" wide. Artists, designers and photographers retain all copyrights.

This year there will be a special judging at the end of the year, all winning entries for 2013 will be judged by an outside honorary judging panel, one for each category. The top twenty-five entries from each category will be selected, and they will be added in a book for publication at the beginning of 2014, winners will receive a discount on the book as well as a certificate of distinction.

Entry Fees:

• Single Entries (Stationery systems are a single entry): Professional Fees $15, Student Fees $10

• Series Entry (Three to five images with a similar theme including books and magazines): Professional Fees $45, Student Fees $20

ELIGIBILITY

The Competition is open to art directors, graphic designers, photographers, illustrators and fine artists in all countries.

PRIZE

Winning entries featured in Issue 34 of Creative Quarterly, distributed worldwide. Winners and runner ups also featured online.
