The Creative Communication Award 2026 offers Graphic Competitions readers an exclusive 10% discount on submissions with the partner code Gr4pHc0mp10@C2A26. The award is an international design competition dedicated to recognising excellence in creative communication across a wide range of disciplines, including graphic design, advertising, branding, digital media, user experience, web design, motion graphics, and integrated communication campaigns. It honours innovative visual communication that demonstrates originality, strategic thinking, and strong conceptual execution. By showcasing high-quality creative work from around the world, the award highlights how effective communication design can shape brands, influence audiences, and drive meaningful engagement across platforms.

Open to professionals, agencies, studios, freelancers, and emerging talent, the Creative Communication Award serves as a global benchmark for outstanding communication design. Submissions are evaluated by an international jury of experienced creatives and industry experts who assess entries based on creativity, clarity of message, visual impact, and relevance within contemporary communication design trends. The competition places strong emphasis on conceptual strength, storytelling, and the successful integration of design and communication objectives, making it a respected accolade within the creative industries.

Beyond recognition, the Creative Communication Award 2026 offers participants significant visibility within the global design community. Awarded projects are featured in international showcases, online galleries, and promotional channels, helping winners increase brand awareness, attract new clients, and strengthen professional credibility. By connecting creative professionals from diverse cultural and professional backgrounds, the award fosters inspiration, innovation, and dialogue, reinforcing its role as a key platform for excellence in creative communication and visual design worldwide.

Entry fee: Standard fees include approximately $80 per entry for students (with additional category fees) and varying fees by professional status; photography category and student rates differ.

ELIGIBILITY

Open to professionals, freelancers, agencies and students worldwide working in communication design, advertising, digital media and related disciplines.

PRIZE

Winners receive recognition through the C2A Winner Seal for promotional use; a Certificate of Achievement detailing the project and lead designers; inclusion in the online C2A gallery; and feature in the annual Book of Creative Communication, which showcases winning projects and offers international exposure and industry credibility.
