The Europhotometeo 2024 Photography Competition, a prestigious event in the realm of weather-related photography, is now welcoming submissions. This competition, an initiative of the European Meteorological Society (EMS) in partnership with the Asociación Meteorológica Española, offers a unique platform for photographers to showcase their talents in capturing meteorological phenomena. Participants are invited to submit their most captivating images of clouds and other weather-related scenes, reflecting the awe-inspiring beauty and complexity of the Earth's atmosphere.

Photographers, both amateur and professional, are encouraged to participate in this celebrated competition. The Europhotometeo 2024 seeks to highlight the artistic and technical skill involved in meteorological photography, bridging the gap between science and art. Each entrant is permitted to submit one photograph, ensuring a level playing field for all. The submitted images must have been taken within the last two years, specifically in 2022 or 2023, ensuring that the photographs reflect recent meteorological events and advancements in photographic techniques.

This competition not only celebrates the beauty of meteorological phenomena but also aims to raise awareness about the dynamic nature of the Earth's atmosphere. Through this contest, the EMS and the Asociación Meteorológica Española endeavor to engage a global audience, encouraging a deeper appreciation for the environment and the science of meteorology. The Europhotometeo 2024 serves as a confluence of art, science, and environmental consciousness, making it a must-participate event for photography enthusiasts and nature lovers alike.

There is no entry fee.
