Greenstorm Global Photography Award is organised annually in association with the United Nations Environment Program (UNEP). This is a globally popular platform for nature photographers to showcase their rarest creations, and an eminent international jury curates the Global Photo Festival.

This green initiative reached 52 countries and has touched over 12 million young minds since its inception in 2009. Join the 14th edition of the awards and get behind the lens for a purpose.

We co-exist with the rest of the natural world, interconnected within the great web of life. The depletion of natural resources and rapid environmental degradation are the results of unsustainable consumption and production.

Let us aim to devise a new world by inspiring humans with the 'power of pictures' that celebrate the unique relationships in nature. Invoke a strong desire in their minds to build a beautiful and sustainable world.

You can submit as many photos as you like.

There is no entry fee.
