SOURCE: GRAPHIC COMPETITIONS

Indigo Design Award is an international competition celebrating outstanding work in graphic design, digital design, branding, and design for social change. Now in its 10th edition, Indigo has brought together creative talent from 70+ countries, judged by a global jury of design professionals from Google, Meta, Nike, Adobe, Samsung, BBC, Uber, Adidas, UNDP, and more.

Built with designers' objectives at its core, Indigo is committed to transparency: one entry fee, no hidden costs, no additional charges throughout the process.

The competition is open to three entry tiers:

Emerging Designers: $100 per entry (+$30 per additional category) For students and recent graduates. Past winners have used their recognition to apply for talent visas, land their first design jobs, and build international careers.

Independent Designers: $150 per entry (+$50 per additional category) For solo creatives and freelancers looking to benchmark their work against the best in the world and attract high-value projects.

Design Teams & Agencies: $250 per entry (+$70 per additional category) For studios and agencies looking to inspire their teams, boost reputation, and gain international recognition.

Submission deadlines: • Early Bird: September 30, 2026 (15% discount) • Extended Early Bird: November 30, 2026 (10% discount) • Regular: January 31, 2027 • Final / Latecomers: February 28, 2027

Judging takes place in March 2027, winners announced April 2027, followed by the annual Indigo Design Party in May 2027.

ELIGIBILITY

Open to agencies, freelance designers, and students worldwide submitting original design work they own or are authorised to enter; entries must be submitted in English and completed within the last five years.
