The competition is open to artists of all disciplines—whether painters, photographers, sculptors, or performance artists—allowing for a diverse and rich display of contemporary art. As the BBA Artist Prize continues to grow in reputation, it remains dedicated to recognizing artists with unique perspectives, professionalism, and creative potential.

Each year, a selection of outstanding works is curated by a jury of art industry professionals, providing participants with an unparalleled platform to elevate their visibility within the global art market. The 2025 edition promises to be the biggest yet, spanning three floors of exhibition space at Kühlhaus Berlin, making it a key event in Berlin's vibrant cultural calendar. Entrants are encouraged to submit their most compelling and innovative pieces, and those chosen for the final exhibition will not only display their work to thousands of art lovers but also stand to win significant prizes. This includes cash rewards, solo exhibitions, and enhanced online visibility through BBA's media channels.

The BBA Artist Prize 2025 aims to support emerging talents by giving them a platform to engage with both local and international audiences, art collectors, curators, and galleries. By participating, artists gain invaluable exposure and the chance to push their careers to the next level. Alongside the exhibition, BBA offers participants numerous promotional opportunities, including being featured as "Artist of the Week" in BBA's online channels, further increasing their reach.
