DesignMarch is Iceland's annual design festival. It will take place for the twelfth time on Mar 25 - Mar 29, 2020. This will be the largest and most significant festival yet with over one hundred events transforming the most northerly capital in the world into one big venue for design.

The festival opens with DesignTalks, a day of lectures by internationally acclaimed designers and leading local design thinkers.

From fashion to furniture, architecture to the environment, food to product design, the festival showcases the best of the local design scene alongside exciting international names.
