The LensCulture Art Photography Awards 2024, organized by LensCulture, a renowned photography magazine based in the Netherlands, stands as a prestigious event in the world of photography. This competition is distinctive for its broad scope and inclusive approach, welcoming a diverse array of photographic works. From conceptual art and gallery-ready prints to innovative images crafted through alternative processes and cutting-edge digital formats, the awards celebrate the wide spectrum of creativity in contemporary photography. The competition is a beacon for photographers who aspire to showcase their unique vision and exceptional skills, providing a platform for both emerging and established artists to gain international recognition.

In this year's edition, the awards are particularly focused on embracing the evolving nature of photography in the digital age. By setting no predefined limits or boundaries on the submissions, LensCulture encourages photographers to push the envelope in terms of creativity and originality. Whether participants choose to submit a single striking image or a cohesive series, the emphasis lies on the thematic or aesthetic coherence of their work. This approach not only highlights the artistic vision of the photographers but also underscores their ability to communicate and resonate with a global audience. The competition serves as a catalyst for artists to explore and present unseen, unheard, and unspoken narratives through their lenses, making it a hub for innovative and thought-provoking photography.

The LensCulture Art Photography Awards 2024's commitment to diversity and creativity is matched by its dedication to offering a global stage for photographers. With its extensive network and a reputation for excellence, LensCulture provides a unique opportunity for photographers to gain exposure and connect with a wide audience of photography enthusiasts, critics, and industry professionals. The competition not only celebrates the artistic achievements of its participants but also plays a pivotal role in shaping the future of photography. By embracing a wide range of photographic styles and encouraging artistic freedom, the LensCulture Art Photography Awards continue to be a leading force in discovering and promoting the finest photographic talents from around the world.

One photo can be submitted for free, with $10 for each additional photo. There's a fee of $35 for 5 single-image entries and $45 for a maximum of 10 photographs judged as a series.

Eligibility

Open worldwide to photographers over 18 years of age.

Prize

The awards include cash prizes for single image and series winners, with $2,000, $1,000, and $500 for the first three places in single images, and $3,500, $2,000, and $1,000 for series winners. Winning photographers will have their work exhibited in New York during The Photography Show, receive media coverage, and have their work projected at international photography festivals. Additionally, an opening reception will be held in New York for networking and art appreciation.
