From May 2 to May 6, Pictoplasma transforms Berlin into the world's most vibrant meeting point for a diverse scene of artists and creatives, trailblazing the face of tomorrow's visual culture.

While international creators and producers meet for a central conference to exchange strategies for tomorrow's figurative representation, the wider festival showcases latest trends in character design and art, cutting-edge screenings bring the latest animation eye-candy to the big screen, and numerous exhibitions throughout the city invite all to experience original works and outstanding character craftsmanship.

Since its inception in 2004, the annual Pictoplasma Festival has established itself as the main meeting point for an international audience of visual creators and producers.
