The San Francisco Design Week Awards is an international design competition seeking to encourage thought leadership by supporting designers whose works can contribute towards a positive future for society.

For more than 13 years San Francisco Design Week has provided design professionals with the opportunity to grow their networks, enhance their visibility, find investors for future products that are shaping the future and build their careers. They welcome applicants from across the entire range of design industries.

There are fourteen categories:

- Architecture
- Audio/Voice
- BioTech
- Communication Design
- Civic + Government
- Future of Foods
- FashTech
- FinTech
- Interior Design
- Internet of Things
- Travel & Hospitality
- Urban Mobility
- VirtualTech
- Wild Card

The entrant or submitted work must demonstrate either an intrinsic connection to the design community or offer a vision that can improve the lives of the people within their community.

Entry fees start from 99 USD.

Eligibility

Open worldwide to applicants from across the entire range of design industries.

Prize

Use of the official San Francisco Design Awards medallion for your marketing materials and certificate or glass award. Also, your product will be on display at the San Francisco Design Week Opening and it will be included on the permanent online showcase.
