The TIPA Photo Contest 2025, branded as "camerAmore," is a global photography competition that focuses on the intimate relationship between photographers and their equipment. Hosted by the Technical Image Press Association (TIPA), the contest invites enthusiasts and professionals alike to showcase their creativity and storytelling skills through captivating imagery that places cameras and photographic gear at the heart of the narrative. Whether it's the nostalgia of vintage equipment or the cutting-edge appeal of the latest technology, this contest celebrates the artistry and passion behind the lens.

Participants are encouraged to submit entries across three compelling categories: "My Camera and I," which delves into the personal bond photographers share with their equipment; "My Camera in Action," highlighting dynamic and creative uses of gear in various settings; and "What's in My Camera Bag," a category that reveals the tools of the trade and their significance to the photographer. These diverse themes ensure that entrants have the freedom to explore different creative expressions, whether through still life compositions, portraiture, or action shots that bring the spirit of photography to life.

The TIPA Photo Contest 2025 not only offers participants a chance to win substantial prizes but also serves as a platform for international recognition.
